Happy Birthday Gemini!

22 May - 21 June

Since the start of 2009 there has been an expansive and lucky energy working in your life. This energy will be around until early 2010 and suggests that you will achieve a better understanding of yourself through education (teaching and/or learning), travelling and/or through spiritual pursuits. Alternatively, some of you may have a happier focus than usual on issues around grandchildren or an in-law.

As part of this journey of self-discovery it is important to try out keep your head out of the clouds and to stick to facts – especially from the middle of May until the end of July; and again during the second half of December 2009. Energies around you during these times suggest that there will be the tendency to see only what you want to see, and let your imagination run away with you! Although this energy is an excellent one if you are studying the arts in any form, it's probably not the best if you are trying to learn about an analytical subject!

This energy shifts gear early in 2010 and brings with it career opportunities or the chance to find your vocation: this energy will be around until early 2011. It also gives you the chance to use what you have been learning in the previous year to good use. There will still be an element of unexpected twists and turns where it comes to your career, but at least it looks as though they are likely to work more in your favour.

The domestic situations that have involved a lot of work for you since the end of 2007 look as though they will continue to be a focus for you – the good news is that the end is in sight! The majority of the issues involving your family structure, living arrangements and/or a property concern should be dealt with by the end of October 2009: with a short period of time after that needed to fine tune changes indicated from early April 2010 and into your next forecast period.

It looks as though you will need to be flexible in dealing with these situations, especially during September 2009 and again in April 2010.

During these times you are likely to need to go back to a situation (or one to similar to) that was around in November 2008 and February 2009.

Special points of interest:

- Gemini is an adaptable sign.
- Mercury, the planet associated with change, communication and short trips, is the ruler of Gemini.
- The vocal chords, lungs and hands are associated with this sign.
- Gemini people tend to enjoy mental challenges.

Welcome...

Here in Kilmore it has been pretty dry for so long that it feels strange to be getting regular rainfall... Ruby (now 20 months old) is still amazed by this wet stuff that falls from the sky!

In this issue of Stellar News I have enclosed a registration form for the Introduction to Astrology Workshop. If you need any more of them I will be uploading them to my website at astrologyrealm.com.

I will be contacting the lady who is running the Candle Magic Workshop in the next week or so to verify that she is still interested in facilitating the workshop and hopefully will have a date for you in the next issue of this newsletter. I know the last one she ran was a very informative and enjoyable experience.

Until next time all my best wishes to you and your loved ones!

Rose :)

How to Use the Planets

Even though the table above may look a bit confusing, a little explanation will make it easier to use it.

The date is self-explanatory: the time simply tells you when planets form an exact relationship to one another or when a planet technically moves from one sign to the other. For example, on May 21 the Sun entered Gemini at 7.51am.

This means that at 7.50am the Sun was still in Taurus so if you were born then you would be a Taurean! This makes it easy to work out the Sun Sign of new additions to your family.

So, if a person was born at 7.51am onwards they would be a Gemini!

You can use the same technique for the other planets as they change signs.

PS: These times are calculated for Kilmore, Victoria, Australia.

About Me...

I have been involved with astrology for more nearly 20 years and have been hooked ever since I got my first reading done.

I studied for 2 years at the Melbourne School of Astrology and ended up sitting (and passing) my exams a few years after then.

I offer birth chart interpretation, personalised forecasts, educational articles written to your requirements, book reviews, astrology columns for various media including newspaper, magazine, radio and web, public speaking and children's charts.

My newest qualification is as an accredited administrator and interpreter of the MBTI, a Jungian personality assessment tool that is the most widely used one in the world.

Natural Stuff—Hair Removal

Many people pay lots of money to get their hair removed by waxing either through using the services of a beautician or by purchasing home waxing kits.

If you are one of the many people who do their own waxing you could be interested in making up your own sugar waxing solution at home for a fraction of the cost you are paying now.

The best thing about this solution is that you probably already have everything you need to make it.

Although it takes a bit of practice to get the hang of using it, it does work quite well.

This is what you need:

- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 cups of white sugar

Mix all the ingredients together and slowly bring to the boil. Then let it simmer for about 5 minutes or until golden in colour. Take it off the heat and let it cool down.

Because the mixture is so hot, the safest way to use this mixture is to allow it to cool down completely.

After it has cooled down take out a small amount and put it in a heavy, heat proof dish.

Then sit this in a bowl of hot water until it is warm and soft enough to spread on the hair you would like to remove. I use an ice cream stick to spread the mixture.

Basically you use it just as you would any other type of wax that you use for hair removal. Use a cloth strip to remove the sugar solution, taking the unwanted hair with it.

Like anything new, this system takes a bit of practice. Good luck!

Help... I Don't Know What Time I Was Born!

Many people panic when they realise that an astrologer needs an accurate time of birth to draw up precise birth chart because they don't have this information for various reasons.

The most common reasons that people don't have their time of birth include: parent's don't remember or have passed away; they were born at home and there is no written record; or the records have been destroyed through fire, flood, etc.

If you have not had any luck with getting your birth details through your parents or other family members then you could try sorting through your baby photos, albums or other memorabilia on the odd chance that a time of birth is recorded somewhere. In some countries, this detail can be found on the actual birth certificate.

Another option is to contact the hospital you were born in to find out whether they have access to files/records around the date of your birth. If that particular hospital has closed down since your birth, the records are usually transferred to another nearby hospital (in Australia anyway!).

Once you find out where the information has been stored, you can then go through the process of applying for a copy of the details of your birth. Usually you have to send in a letter stating what type of information you need, and some hospitals ask that you send in a small fee to cover the costs of searching for your (or most probably your mother's) file/s.

If you go through this process you are likely to find your time of birth recorded on the material you receive. Unfortunately, in a small number of cases, sometimes the data has not been written down for one reason or another. This is where you go to the final stage in the process of finding out your time of birth.

At this stage you need to contact an astrologer who is experienced in rectifying a chart - this simply means that the astrologer works out your time of birth through using the dates of important events in your life. The type of information needed includes: birth; death; marriage; divorce; major health issues; travel; relocation; legal conflict; and/or career changes. The astrologer needs between 10–15 life events to calculate your time of birth.

From there the astrologer can work out common astrological themes that run through these major life events and fine-tune your birth chart. I have used this method many times with personal clients and found it to be accurate.

Although the above process may seem a little time-consuming, I would recommend that you find out your time of birth if you are thinking about having personalised astrology prepared for you. There is so much more to be gained when all the correct details are presented!

Although the above process may seem a little time-consuming, I would recommend that you find out your time of birth if you are thinking about having personalised astrology prepared for you.
