TWELVE MONTH FORECAST

(for the period May 2008 – June 2009)

FOCUS AREA:

General Reading

MAJOR THEMES

The Secondary Progressed Moon left your 5th House and entered the 6th House during February 2008, shifting your everyday focus from issues to do with your children, love affairs, enjoyment and what love means to you; to more practical matters.

This new focus on 6th House matters means that over the next couple of years that you will need to change the way you live your daily life, possibly because of a change in work/study habits, but also because you decide to pay more attention to areas of your health that need attention.

Your progressed Mercury is at 29 Degrees of Cancer in your 5th House and will not change signs during this forecast period. This suggests to me that issues around your children, creativity, love and how you love yourself are still in a state of flux and will remain so for this forecast period. The way you think about these matters may also be changing.

Another way you could experience this symbolism is that a loved one may almost be ready to make a change or shift the way they are doing things, but not quite yet. Metaphorically having a planet at 29 degrees of any sign is like someone standing in front of a door, going from one room to the next. They have stepped over the threshold, so are in two rooms at once, but are not in either room totally. Once Mercury changes signs your direction with these matters will become clearer but will not stabilize until Mercury goes past the 0 degree mark into the 1 degree of Leo.

With the Solar Arc Nodes coming up to a conjunction with your Ascendant/Descendant Axis it is important this year to get out there and network! Connections you make with other people this year look to be important with the possibility of fated developments and associations forming. These associations can be any sort: love relationships, friendships, business links, advisors, etc.

The Solar Arc Mars is heading towards a conjunction with your natal Moon in the 5th/6th Houses, suggesting that these areas of your life are currently being 'heated up' and will reach a peak in October 2008 before beginning to ease off. As with the other major events so far, it seems that issues around love and feeling special are going to be a major theme for you this year. Because your Moon is on the cusp of the 5/6th Houses, it may be that health issues and areas around your work/study habits need a lot of your attention.

Some people find 6th House issues include an accent on the people you deal with on an everyday basis, and also living arrangements. With the Solar Arc Mars in conjunction with your natal Moon you could find that you have the chance to make a fresh start with these matters that could mean that you are more assertive about your needs for love or affection with children or other loved ones (5th House), or your need for emotional well-being and how your living arrangements affect your health (6th House). Another way you could use this energy is through starting a new job or activity that involves your emotions or other lunar themes such as nurturing, food, feminine energy, nutrition, etc. The 6th House is associated with small animals, so there may be a job that involves them.

Another focus through transiting Saturn going through the 6th House suggests that now is THE time to work on streamlining the way you do things on a daily basis.

Saturn is our taskmaster, but also a great and patient teacher. With him traveling through Virgo, the sign of detail, order and duty it seems that Saturn's journey through your 6th House is about learning to use these qualities in your everyday life. Learning 'practicality' may be part of the lesson with Saturn traveling through this part of your chart. This may also flow on to learning how to get on with other people that you have to work or deal with on a daily basis, which may be difficult during this time because your ability to tolerate others (particularly those you have to work or study with) is generally not high with this influence. A bit of a contradiction I know, but there it is.

Because Saturn is natal in your 7th House and rules your 11th House (Capricorn on cusp), I feel that part of your experience of this transit will incorporate one on one relationships, as well as group associations. A positive way to use this Saturn transit through your 6th House would be to work one on one with others on a daily basis to achieve a humanitarian goal you have that is shared with a group. Another scenario could be that a friend (11th House) comes to spend more one on one (7th House) time with you on a daily basis (6th House), giving you the opportunity to know each other. Although this may be trying at times trying to get the right balance of daily time together (6th House) the rewards include the strengthening of your relationship (Saturn) and learning about your shadow qualities through this process (7th House).

There are many ways this energy can manifest but the core meaning is that you will need to work at the details of everyday life and how you look after any health issues.

Power continues to be a major theme to be explored in the coming year with retrograde Pluto returning to a conjunction to your Midheaven. Although it doesn't make an exact conjunction to the midheaven it does make an opposition to your natal Mars from December 2008 until February 2009.

Pluto is about power, transformation, deep emotions and sometimes, our darkness. The Midheaven is usually associated with our life path, vocation, life outside the home, one of our parents and/or authority figures. Over the last couple of years Pluto has been traveling over your Midheaven and is now completing the process of changing your life course in a big way. Developments involving one of your parents, authority figures and your private life (home/family) are likely to have been emotionally intense and have helped you to find your power and the strength you carry within yourself. With Pluto natal in your 5th House and having Scorpio intercepted in the 8th, I feel that events over the last couple of years have asked you to dig very deep in order to redefine what love is, how you see one/both of your parents, and where your life goes from these changes.

The Pluto/Mars opposition continues this trend, but will bring new elements into your 'Pluto' experience. The opposition suggests that another person, probably a male or fiery family member (or person you are living with) will be part of the picture. Aries is on your Second House cusp, which Mars rules, suggesting that this other person will bring out an emotionally charged situation involving money, or your values. With Pluto here and an opposition, I would expect that there will be some challenging moments but the good news is that through them that you will learn not only about how powerful you really are, but also what you truly value.

Jupiter is currently in your 10th House and will be until the middle of December 2008. This energy strongly supports the current Pluto transit of this House and the situations you are experiencing as being powerful and positive in the longer term. Even though to others some of the life changes you are currently in the throes of may seem irrational, in the longer term they will work for you: in fact, once Jupiter moves into your 11th House you will begin to see the results of some of the changes you have been, and will continue to make.

Some ways you may experience this Jupiter energy are through making helpful contacts with authority figures and making a good impression on them, traveling for work, making a temporary sideways step in your career that will help you move further along in order for you to work more in alignment with your spiritual beliefs, and/or gaining a more positive perspective in regards to the relationship you share with one of your parents. Naturally your Jupiter is in the 3rd House and rules the 9th and 10th House, suggesting that part of your life path will include speaking or communicating and spiritual beliefs or involving foreign people/places.

A big shift with Neptune will occur when this planet moves from your 11th House into your 12th House early in 2009. This shift in energy suggests that your need for peace and solitude will be more prominent – I say this because Neptune rules your Ascendant, and symbolically it can be said that you will be moving into the 12th of retreat in order to recentre yourself.

The first aspect that is made by Neptune as it moves into your 12th House is a trine to your Sun in the 3rd that is in effect from mid May until early June 2008; and again from February until the end of April 2009. This suggests that you are likely to experience this process as flowing, and that helps to boost your empathy and connection with others at a spiritual level. Communication may take on more of a sensitive aspect as you pick up on the undercurrents in the way people connect with each other.

As this trine to your Sun begins, the next aspect that starts (and is in effect at the same time as the trine at some stages), Neptune will also oppose your natal Moon. This aspect is in effect until the end of July 2008, and will be around again from early February until the end of March 2009. This combination of energies suggest that, again, your feelings will be extremely heightened and prominent... giving you great empathy and sensitivity to what is around you at many different levels. It is important during this time to pay attention to your diet, your surroundings and the people you associate with in order to protect yourself against being depleted emotionally. Past life experiences and/or feelings may become part of your life during these times.

This Neptunian energy that is being accentuated with the Moon can mean that you will be searching for your spiritual home, or that you spend this period of time happily drifting without permanent roots. Pilgrimage comes to mind when I feel this energy.

Jupiter moves from your 10th House into your 11th House during December 2008 suggesting that over the year that is travelling here that you will expand your social network, increase your involvement with groups and/or perhaps form closer ties with the children of other people (including the partner/s of your own children)..

YOUR GENERAL ENVIRONMENT AND WELL-BEING; RELATING SKILLS, DIRECTION, PEOPLE THAT COME INTO YOUR LIFE, ATTITUDE IN GENERAL TO THE WORLD, SELF-UNDERSTANDING

In a general sense while the ruler of your Ascendant, Neptune, is retrograde from the end of May until early November 2008 life in general may not move as quickly or smoothly as you would like.

While transiting Jupiter is squaring your natal Neptune, it may be wise to avoid making any major changes in your life, or believing what someone else is telling you. Areas to show caution and restraint in particular would be with matters relating to travel, career, life direction, authority figures, and how far you push your body. This transit will be in effect until the middle of June 2008 and again from the middle of November until early December 2008. Its energy also suggests that it is important to keep some boundaries and structure in your life during this time as situations look like they will easily become 'pear-shaped' under this influence. This energy supports creative activities and connection with sensitive people.

The period from November 2008 until early January 2009 looks like a particularly important time in your life where a cross-road will be reached and changes will be made to the way you live and express yourself. Your progressed Moon is squaring your progressed Ascendant during this time.

One of the best times through this forecast period for life in general is through the first half of April 2009 when transiting Jupiter trines your Ascendant ruler, Neptune. This is likely to be a period of time when obstacles in the way of achieving things of importance to you are removed or fade away, and when your body is likely to be stronger than usual.

FINANCES & ASSETS, SELF-ESTEEM, INCOME, VALUES

With transiting Pluto opposing your natal Mars from mid December 2008 until mid February 2009 it seems that it is time to look deeply into your values and how you value yourself.

This energy is an emotionally intense one where the involvement of at least one other person is indicated. Through your interaction with others it is likely that the way you see, and value yourself will undergo a slow, but powerful transformation. Through this process you also have the opportunity to learn how to assert yourself and to find your own power, which is likely to have been hidden for a long time. The involvement of family or your domestic situation is likely to be part of the picture of this important turning point in your life and may involve digging deep into your past in order to gain a better understanding of your current situation, and where you can go from there.

Although it is important during this time to stand your ground in regards to what is important to you, it is also important to remember that others may be feeling threatened by your newfound strength and may try to hold on to their old image of you... this applies particularly to family members. The more conscious you can be about your own motivation and reasons for your actions now, the better you will be able to utilize the energy available to you.

This energy can have a difficult aspect to it in that others may react to your power by trying to control you, and it. Manipulation, mind-games and/or controlling behaviour is sometimes experienced by people with this energy working in their life... it is something to be mindful of.

After this opposition is complete I would expect that the way you view and value yourself would be transformed and totally different, and that the way you handle your finances and other things you value would be a reflection of this inner change. The way you choose to live your private and domestic life is also likely to reflect your values too.

This looks to be one of the best times for stabilizing your finances and yourself. This would be an excellent time to think about your long-term goals and for restructuring your money and assets. Obstacles to financial success and inner success are likely to be removed during this time. A friend or involvement with groups is likely to be part of this process for you.

The middle of February 2009 (transiting Jupiter squaring your natal Venus) is a time where you will need to watch for overdoing the spending or overcommitting yourself financially or with your other resources (time, energy, etc). This period of time looks to be one where a turning point is indicated where a shift in the way you think about your resources and your own worth is indicated, which in turn may have an effect on your spirituality and/or life path. The involvement of a friend or group you belong to is indicated.

COMMUNICATION, SIBLINGS, SHORT TRIPS AND NEGOTIATIONS, ATTENDING TO DOCUMENTATION OR AGREEMENTS, CONNECTING WITH OTHERS

Your Secondary Progressed Mercury at the final degree (29) of Cancer suggests that these areas of your life are undergoing a slow, but definite shift away from the security and emotionally toned way of doing things, your thinking and the way you relate to others towards a more exciting and extroverted way of being. This process is likely to take a period of about 12 months to work through and stabilize until Mercury leaves zero degrees of Leo and moves into the first degree of this sign.

From the end of June until the middle of July, and again from the end of October until the middle of November transiting Jupiter will be opposing your natal Mercury (Mercury rules your 3rd House). This energy suggests that through your involvement with another person that the way you connect with others will undergo a shift through a better understanding of yourself, and others. The other person is likely to be a family member and/or someone you admire or look up to.

On a mundane level, it is likely that you will travel long distance, and/or be interested in expanding your mind through study and/or teaching. Alternatively, you could have a lot of paperwork to work through, phone calls and meetings/discussions that take a lot of your time. This is likely to be an exceptionally busy time. All of these mentioned themes are likely to be related to a situation or project that you began while transiting Jupiter was conjunct your natal Mercury approximately 6 years ago.

The first half of August 2008 looks like a period of tension and reaching a turning point in the way you relate to others, particularly siblings. With transiting Saturn squaring your natal Jupiter I feel that this will be a breakthrough period for you in understanding not only yourself, but others and where you fit in to the 'big picture' and where your life is going. A shift in the way you deal with others is likely during this time and may be related to a stressful situation that was around approximately 7 years ago when Saturn was conjunct your natal Jupiter. The way you view one of your parents may also be involved with this energy.

A breakthrough with paperwork or your involvement with an authority figure like a government agency, is also likely during this time.

While transiting Jupiter is trining your natal Jupiter in the first half of February 2009 it is likely that the relationship you share with siblings will be smoother than usual, making this an excellent time to discussion delicate matters with them. In a general sense, life is likely to moving along smoothly with an opportunity to work in an area that interests you intellectually being a possibility of coming through. Communication, travel and or work blockages are likely to be removed during this time making it an excellent period to apply for work or study related matters. Your frame of mind is likely to be 'lighter' during this time.

March, April and May 2009 when your secondary progressed Moon squares your natal Jupiter is likely to be another turning point period in relation to how you communicate and connect with others, particularly siblings. This is likely to be a highly emotional period that requires you to try a different approach with these people or aspects of your life. It is important during this time to keep these issues in hand as they have the potential to blow out of proportion.

HOME, FAMILY AND PROPERTY

The ruler of your 4th House, the Secondary Progressed Mercury is at the final degree (29) of Cancer, as in the 3rd House, suggests that these areas of your life are undergoing a slow, but definite shift away from the security and emotionally toned way of doing things, towards achieving stability and the ability to shine in your domestic environment. As I mentioned earlier, this process is likely to take a period of about 12 months to work through and stabilize until Mercury leaves zero degrees of Leo and moves into the first degree of this sign.

Domestic and property matters are positively accented while transiting Neptune trines your natal Sun from mid May until early June 2008 and again from late February until the end of April 2009. This is a time where blockages to finding your spiritual home and where you feel you belong will be removed, making it easier than usual to feel at peace wherever you are! This energy also bodes well for your general well-being and for your relationship with the men in your life (and your own ego).

During the times mentioned you may also be more artistically inclined than usual and be attracted to any type of art and/or creativity. Your psychic abilities may also be heightened during these times.

As mentioned in the 'General Themes' section of this report, the period from mid December 2008 until mid February 2009 is likely to be an extremely important one in terms of discovering, and using your power. This is likely to be a particularly important time for redefining the way you want to live your private life (i.e., your living arrangements), and your life goals.

This process is likely to mean taking consideration of your own personal value system, and the resources you have available to you (money, assets, skills, time, energy, etc), when making these changes.

While Jupiter is opposing your natal Mercury during the first half of July 2008, and again during the first half of November 2008 it seems that you will have the chance to reach a turning point not only within your family/domestic environment, but also in regards to finding your life path. By clarifying one of these areas, the other will fall into place.

Developments that come up now will be related to situations that began about 6 years ago when Jupiter was conjunct your natal Mercury, in fact the opposition suggests that you will now know whether or not you want to continue along the same path, or start again with these situations. Property transactions are likely to go well for you now, as long as you watch for the fine print.

With Jupiter also opposing your natal Uranus at the same time it may seem that these opportunities come from out of the blue, or through unusual circumstances. They may also be related to people or situations returning good karma to you.

Beginning in April 2009 and going on and off for several years will be the transit of Uranus squaring your natal Sun. This energy suggests that you are ready for a major change in the way you see yourself, think, and connect with others (particularly family members). This is a high energy transit and it is important to allow for the expression of this energy through allowing your thinking to be challenged and to be flexible in your approach to life. I liken this influence to being on an exciting roller coaster ride, so tighten your seatbelt!

During the time of this transit it is likely that your life will be in a state of flux while you first of all let go of the old you, transform, and then solidify yourself again (a bit like when a caterpillar changes into a butterfly – there are sensitive stages to this process). This is likely to be especially felt in your daily routine, the relationship you share with family and your health. Health issues related to being over-energised (anxiety?), or your energy being scattered are possible.

The opportunity that this transit brings you is the change to break free from old ways of thinking and being, and becoming ‘you’! Freedom is very important during this time.

ROMANCE, CREATIVITY, CHILDREN, ENJOYMENT

Your secondary progressed Moon changes signs from Leo into Virgo in the middle of July 2008, suggesting that your approach to love, your children, enjoyment and how you love yourself will move into a more flexible and practical method. For example, you may show your love to others through looking after everyday details for them (cooking, cleaning, paying bills, etc). You may also learn to honour yourself more by doing the things that bring you pleasure.

The solar eclipse on August 1 will be falling in this house, suggesting that you will experience a period of illumination around what ‘love’ means to you. This realization may be triggered via a situation through one of your loved ones or through doing something you really enjoy. You may experience this a month either way of the actual eclipse.

From February until the end of March 2009 transiting Neptune will be opposing your natal Moon. This energy is a highly sensitive and creative one, suggesting that you will be in an excellent position to pursue a creative hobby, or to enjoy a heightened ‘psychic’ ability.

Since this energy falls in the 5th and 11th Houses, I would expect that your children, friends and other loved ones may live out part of this energy – meaning that they may be more sensitive than usual or need creative outlets. It could also mean that they express the more ‘slippery’ side of Neptune and be difficult to pin down or understand! This period of time is not the best one to make major relationship changes as it is possible that the other person involved may not be what they seem.

The lunar eclipse in February 2009 is likely to be more subtle than the Solar one that occurred in August 2008. It falls in the 11th House and suggests that you will reach a deeper understanding of your needs, and those of your friends, within a social context.

While transiting Chiron is opposing your natal Moon from the middle of March until the end of April 2009, it seems that you will have the chance to heal many of your emotional wounds – but before you can do this, you will need to acknowledge them.

These wounds are likely to stem from your early childhood and affect how you give and receive love, particularly to your own children and/or lovers. This period of time heralds a major turning point with these themes for you, and your ability to shine.

At the same time as the previously mentioned Chiron transit, you will also experience the transiting Jupiter opposing your natal Pluto. This also suggests a major turning point that is likely to be deeply emotional. While this transit is in effect during most of April 2009, I feel that part of your turning point will be in understanding the values (even though they are likely to be different to yours) of another person and taken them into consideration when expressing your love for them.

This energy brings with it an enormous opportunity to reach not only a turning point in the relationship you share with loved ones, but also for deepening your understanding of them. Your involvement with a friend and/or group at this time may be part of this more complex understanding of these aspects and people in your life.

The shift of your progressed Moon from Leo into Virgo in the middle of July suggests that you will be more likely to want to pay attention to the details of everyday life and functioning in a more organized way. You may start a new health routine, course or job around this time that helps you create a new routine that will be different to the one you have been living with.

A hiccup to your routine may occur while transiting Neptune opposes your natal Moon (from February until the end of March 2009) and creates temporary chaos! With this energy it is likely that you will have to remain fluid and flexible in order to make the most of the situations around you now. You will need to pay attention to health matters relating to feeling depleted or 'uncentred', fluid/hormonal imbalances, and/or the good old 'vampire' theme. Protecting yourself emotionally is likely to be helpful now, and also being around water. The people you may be confused, or confusing during this time.

As part of your shift in the way you do things that is indicated by the change of sign to your progressed Moon, transiting Uranus will be squaring your natal Sun (ruler of your 6th House), from April 2009 and for a couple of years after then – on and off.

This energy suggests that there will be a major change to the way you spend your daily time, for example you may begin a job, start studying or volunteer your time on a regular basis. This is likely to be a very exciting, but high energy time (as I mentioned earlier).

YOUR SPOUSE, BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP, ADVISORS, LEARNING ABOUT

Mercury rules your 7th House, and with SP Mercury in the process of changing signs I feel that the way you relate to others is undergoing a very slow, but subtle change that will take another year or two to complete. It seems that you are slowly moving away from the Cancerian way of interacting with others, and working your way towards the Leo aspect of relating where you will learn to be more comfortable in allowing yourself, and others to shine and to see the special qualities of the people in your life; and to recognize your own.

During the second half of November 2008 while transiting Jupiter squares your natal Neptune it looks like you will need to show caution when working with others. This would not be the best time to make major changes in your life, particularly if another person is involved. The same applies to seeking advice during this time, these energies suggest that the other person may not know as much as they think they do, or that there will be a communication mix-up that means that you don't understand what they are telling you. The situations you experience now may be related to ones that you experienced from late May until the middle of June 2008 when Jupiter was squaring Neptune.

A sense of tension or frustration that you experienced in June is likely to return again during the second half of November 2008. A final cross-road will be reached when dealing with a particular person (probably a friend or child of another person), or group that you are involved with. This interaction is likely to teach you about yourself and highlight something that you fear. Through acknowledging it, you now have the opportunity to change the way you deal with this fear and to release it. Alternatively, a shadow quality may need acknowledgement. The transit here is Jupiter squaring your natal Saturn.

Another example of the possible expression of this energy is that you have some delay in getting the information you need from an advisor.

November and December 2008 look especially busy for you this year, while the progressed Moon squares your progressed Ascendant. It seems that during this time you will feel compelled and determined to change your approach to life in general, but particularly the people you allow into your life.

A turning point and happy/lucky contact with others is indicated during the first half of November 2008 that may be tied in with similar situations that were around during the first half of July 2008. The transit of Jupiter opposing your natal Mercury suggests that you are likely to receive good news about, or through another person – perhaps a sibling.

This development is likely to help you see positive aspects of yourself that perhaps you had not recognised previously. Foreign people may be more prominent than usual in your life during this time and there may be the culmination of a relationship that began approximately 6 years ago when the transiting Jupiter was conjunct your natal Mercury.

INVESTMENTS, TAXATION, JOINT FINANCES, INTIMACY AND TRUST, SEXUALITY

While transiting Saturn trines the ruler of your 8th House, Venus, you can expect that joint financial matters should stabilise and that blockages to achieving stability in 8th House matters to be removed. This transit occurs through all of August 2008 and also suggests that this would be an excellent time to build trust and intimacy with loved ones, and to build and strengthen your own sense of self and self-esteem.

This transit is also an excellent one for reorganising any debts that you may have and also for applying for finance and for attending to matters relating to taxation, investments, child support, and/or legacies.

The second half of February 2009 is a period of time that you will need to watch that others involved with your finances do not overspend. Generally this is not a good time to make decisions or changes to your investments, loan structures or taxation habits because you may miss something important in the fine print. However, a turning point is likely during this time in understanding the boundaries you are working with. The transit of Jupiter squaring your natal Venus during this time also suggests that you are more likely to trust others during this time as well, and that luck will generally be on your side as long as you don't go overboard financially.

While your progressed Moon trines your natal Venus from April through until early June 2009 is a good time for these matters. You are likely to do well through combining forces/resources with a person you trust. Your interaction with women, family members and/or Cancerians is also likely to flow smoothly during this time with developments contributing to strengthening your self esteem.

April 2009 is again highlighted with transiting Jupiter opposing your natal Pluto as an important time for joint financial matters, trust, intimacy and learning to accommodate another person's values. During this time it is likely that through your involvement with a friend, child, or a lover that you will reach a turning point in your understanding of them, and yourself: this is likely to have some relevance to a situation or development from when Jupiter was conjunct your natal Pluto about 6 years ago.

FOREIGN CONTACTS, LONG-DISTANCE TRAVEL, LEGAL AND MORAL ISSUES, HIGHER EDUCATION AND SPIRITUALITY: RELATIONSHIP WITH IN-LAWS AND

The first half of August 2009 looks to be a turning point in these matters and areas of your life. There may be a sense of frustration as you wait on a major decision or development to occur – this is likely to be related to a situation that was around about 7 years ago. This transit involves the transiting Saturn squaring your natal Jupiter. An example of this energy for you would be waiting on paperwork or approval for study or a long-distance trip.

The first half of February 2009 would be the best time to schedule any travel, starting an educational course (or teaching one!), and for dealing with legal matters. While transiting Jupiter is trining your natal Jupiter it seems that blockages to making progress will be removed. This is also a good time for building up your relationship with an in-law.

March, April and May 2009 look like very busy times with these themes in your life, but also quite emotional: the square of the secondary progressed Moon to your natal Jupiter suggests a turning point in these matters. This is likely to be reached by trying a different approach.

CAREER, PUBLIC LIFE, RELATIONSHIP WITH AUTHORITY FIGURES AND

While transiting Jupiter is conjunct your natal Chiron in November 2008 it seems that you will have an opportunity to make a fresh start in where your life is going. The 10th House represents life outside of your home and your career amongst other things, so I feel that you will have the chance to start something new in these areas that will reflect your healing capacity and use it as part of your life path. Your spirituality is also likely to play a part in this new start. This energy was around during the second half of June 2008 as well, so opportunities that arise now are likely to be linked in with events from that period of time.

November 2008 and late February until early March 2009 look like an excellent times for taking advantage of the opportunities around you in finding your life path and dealing with authority figures. Transiting Saturn trines your natal Chiron during these times suggest that these will be periods for stabilization and for putting into place a structure that will be around for many years. The removal of obstacles is likely during this time.

On another level, events during these times may help you to restructure and heal the image you have of one of your parents, most probably your mother.

While transiting Saturn squares your natal Jupiter during the first half of August 2008, it seems that you will reach a turning point in where your live is going that may be tied in to events that occurred while Saturn was conjunct your natal Jupiter about 7 years ago. This period of time is likely to be frustrating if you are waiting for approval for any type of authority figure.

One of the best periods of time for dealing with authority figures and being successful in your activities outside of your home would be during the first half of February 2009. The transiting Jupiter will be trining your natal Jupiter during this time, suggesting that matters relating to the 10th House should flow smoothly. It is likely that you will make a good impression on those that have authority in your life during this time.

The secondary progressed Moon will be squaring your natal Jupiter from the middle of March until the middle of May 2009, suggesting a turning point being reached in defining your life direction. News or information you receive may be important for this process, or the involvement of a sibling. A change in approach to these matters may be needed.

SOCIAL CIRCLE, FRIENDS, THE CHILDREN OF OTHER PEOPLE, GROUPS YOU BELONG TO

The solar eclipse of January 2009 falls in this house, suggesting that the weeks around this period of time will be important ones in understanding what type of group involvement you would like, and also for understanding a friendship and/or child of another person.

This eclipse may also bring in some 5th House situations – your own children, a love affair, your understanding of the special qualities you have and how you need to be treated to feel loved, and also understanding what you need to do to feel alive. This period of time heralds an important breakthrough in one or more of these areas.

While the transiting Jupiter squares your natal Saturn during the second half of November 2008 it looks as though there will be some frustration around a friend or group you belong to. Although this may be irritating it is likely to lead to a cross-road and turning point being reached with them that is linked in to the last time Jupiter squared your natal Saturn during June 2008. The children of other people (or the partner of one of your children) may also feature prominently now.

Jupiter moves from your 10th House into your 11th House in the middle of December 2008 heralding a new focus for growth and opportunity.

While Jupiter was travelling through your 10th House it seems that there were opportunities to find a new path or purpose in life that will now begin to become clearer. As Jupiter travels through the 11th

House it is likely that you will begin to see the results of the changes you made in your life while it was travelling through the previous house.

Some ways you may find that you experience this energy is through joining or starting a group that expresses a spiritual belief or life purpose that you believe in, Jupiter rules your 9th and 10th Houses, so I feel that you will want to share some of the themes from these houses within a group setting (11th House).

Groups that you take part in now are likely to expand and widen your spiritual horizons, and also your social horizons with friendships bringing happiness and joy. Happiness through the child of another person is also indicated.

The second half of January 2009 looks like a particularly important time for making positive connections that are 'fated'. Mutually beneficial associations are likely to be formed during this time while the transiting Jupiter conjuncts your natal Nodes.

While Chiron opposed your natal Moon from the middle of March until the end of April 2009, it looks like you will be able to firstly identify what is causing pain between yourself and another person, and then to heal the wound causing this pain. The other person is likely to be a child, friend, lover or group member that you are emotionally involved with. A turning point and a better understanding of yourself and these people is indicated during this time.

At the same time as the above Chiron transit you have transiting Jupiter trining your natal Saturn (technically during the first half of April). This energy suggests that the process of healing your relationships with friends will be smoother than it otherwise might be, and that this period will be one of respite if things are a bit rocky! Obstacles to finding stability within a group setting should be easily removed during this time.

On another level, you are now likely to make progress towards achieving a humanitarian goal, or something else important to you.

Beginning in April 2009 you will be experiencing your nodal return which means (in my experience) that you will be reassessing your ties with others and your support network. This is also a highly important time in finding your destiny through your involvement with friends and groups.

TIME ALONE FOR REFLECTION, PREPARATION FOR A NEW START, SECRET PROJECTS AND BEHIND THE SCENES ACTIVITIES, THE PAST (LIFE?)

While the transiting Jupiter opposes your natal Uranus (ruler of your 12th House), it seems that sudden opportunities (or unusual ones) will need quick action to take advantage of them. This transit is in effect during the first half of November 2008 and was also in effect during the first half of July 2008.

During this time it is likely that good karma will return to you, whether it is through this lifetime, or another if you believe in reincarnation. The opportunities I see will most likely come through or involve family, domestic or property matters, and/or your career/life path.
